Research Grant Funding - The research grant program employs a comprehensive strategy to advance stomach cancer research by directly funding research grants, working with our government affairs team to advocate for more resources from the federal government for investigations into the disease, and facilitating interactions and collaborations within the research community. We have a diverse research grants portfolio that is designed to expedite scientific progress for patient benefit. The grants program uses a rigorous, peer-review system to ensure that the very best science from institutions around the country is funded. The program is evaluated annually to ensure impact and results.

Government Affairs and Advocacy - The government affairs and advocacy program in Washington, D.C., focuses on educating elected officials about stomach cancer and the need to increase federal research funding dedicated to the disease. The federal government has more dollars for cancer research than any private entity. Therefore, we augment private research funding with aggressive advocacy for increased federal dollars for stomach cancer. Our efforts include bringing supporters each year to Washington, D.C., to educate their elected officials about the disease and the urgent need to take action.
